

Visit My Garden

Beginning May 1 and extending through May 31, the following two gardens will be open by appointment only to the St. Charles WildOnes Members. Please send them an email and include your phone number for ease in scheduling.

Patty and Steve Berry: pberry343@gmail.com (O'Fallon Area)

Patty and Steve were the 2021 Winners of the St. Charles WildOnes Landscape Challenge and have a large wildflower garden in their front yard, around their mailbox and also up near the house. In the backyard, they have a water feature and lots more natives. Among natives blooming now are: yellow and coral honeysuckle, yellow indigo, and rose verbena with lots of interesting natives scheduled to bloom throughout the year. Afternoon & Evenings

Matt Rush: mattjrush@gmail.com (St. Charles Area)

Matt continues to develop his yard with the vision and preciseness of an artist/engineer. He strives also for something blooming for the pollinators during each season of the year. He has plants for woodlands, wet areas, prairies and glades and is constantly developing new areas of interest. Among the many natives blooming in his yard are pawpaw, tulip poplar, shooting stars, leather flower, red buckeye, and trillium. Evenings after 5 p.m and Weekends
